Immersive Experiences about Kowloon City

In the centre of the study room, visitors can enjoy 270-degree videos that display the history and development of Kowloon City. History of Landmarks in the Kowloon City District

Sung Wong Toi, Kowloon Walled City, and Kai Tak Airport are significant landmarks in Kowloon City, each with a rich history that reflects the region's cultural and political evolution. Together, these sites illustrate the diverse narratives that shape Hong Kong's identity and its historical journey.

Literary Walk

The "Literary Walk" encourages readers to connect writers and places through observation and experience during literary exploration activities. Our students have engaged in this exploration and written articles expressing their love for "Kai Tak."

Historical Footprints

Today, several viewpoints in Kowloon City reflect the history of the area. Designated spots in Kowloon Walled City Park and around the MTR stations of Sung Wong Toi and Kai Tak are marked on the exhibition boards. Visitors can enhance their understanding of these heritage spots through mixed reality experiences using provided devices.

Salute to Kai Tak Airport

At the end of the corridor, the Kai Tak runway evokes collective memories of watching airplanes soar through the sky above Kowloon City. From the windows of our Makerspace, visitors can view our signature flight, "Cognitio", suspended in the air.

San Po Kong in the early days

San Po Kong in the early 1970s was a burgeoning area that emerged following the reconstruction of Kai Tak Airport, a process that began after the Japanese occupation in the 1950s. In 1970, Cognitio College (Kowloon) established its San Po Kong campus, contributing to the area's educational growth and community development.

History of Kowloon City

As you enter the corridor, you will encounter a timeline exhibiting the cityscape and topography of Kowloon City, illustrating its history from the mid-1800s to the mid-1900s.
